What we do

We believe this world needs to change

Het Actiefonds therefore supports the struggle for a sustainable and socially just world in which people and the environment are placed above economic interests. We do so by financially supporting grassroots activists and social movements all over the world. Because together we can make radical change happen.

Everywhere across the globe people fight against injustice and oppression. Whether it is about climate change, land rights or anti-racism, they organize themselves as social movements because that is the best, and sometimes the only way to change the ruling order. The activists we support work locally, within their own community, region or country, but as part of an intersectional struggle of fighting for a better world.

Activists keep the hope alive that change is really possible

We remain entirely independent by not accepting subsidies from governments and corporations. We owe it to private donors that we can deliver our contribution to worldwide change.

Het Actiefonds supports demonstrations, occupations and other forms of direct action

Het Actiefonds supports projects that include – but are not limited to – the following categories: ecology, living and land rights, emancipation, feminism, animal rights, workers' rights, refugees and anti-racism. Specifically grassroots groups with limited financial means of their own can count on our support.
